Excerpt: . . . destroying the patient in two or three days. When fever takes place from the above-mentioned causes, viz. sudden change of temperature from heat to cold, or the indiscreet use of cold water, our first care must be to lower the circulation, by taking from the patient two or three quarts of blood, and by administering such medicines as have a tendency to remove spasm, and promote perspiration, without increasing the circulation. For which purpose, the following prescription will be found excellent: Take camphor, six drams; nitre, and cream of tartar, of each two ounces: powder and mix them well together, and add honey sufficient to make the whole of a proper consistency, and divide into four balls. One of these balls may be given every six or eight hours; his clothing should be warm; and his diet warm mashes of bran; his drink should be warm water, with a little sweet bran or oatmeal sprinkled on its surface, or warm water-gruel. His body should be kept open, by the following clyster: Take Barbadoes aloes in fine powder, half an ounce: dissolve it in two quarts of strong linseed tea. Let this clyster, a little warm, be thrown up the rectum, by a bladder and pipe, every five or six hours. If the irritation and fever continue to increase after the above treatment, (which is not often the case) a little more blood may be taken away, and the camphor ball may be repeated, with...
